WARTBURGERS, PROFS SPEAK IN CONVOCATION

Webb, Becker Talk on University Life; Wright Shows Pix.

Friday, Jan. 13, Raymond Webb.

A former Wartburg student, Raymond Webb, who is now at Iowa State college, gave the convocation address on Jan. 13 speaking on the influence which a religious emphasis week may have upon students.

"Are you getting the most important thing out of life?" asked the speaker. He pointed out that even the most exact scientist may miss one important thing, "Life." He said, "Is a communion with God."

Mr. Webb's advice was "Capitalize on your life at Wartburg. Remember that religion offers something dependable. It exists whether you are prosperous or destitute."

About the results of religious emphasis week at Ames, Mr. Webb said, "It puts a new zeal into the hearts of the faculty and students."

Mon., Jan. 23—Dr. John Hiltner.

First convocation speaker for the new semester was Dr. John Hiltner, chairman of the convocation committee, who based his timely remarks on the passage found in Ecclesiastes 3:11, "Thou hast put eternity in their hearts."

"What does this mean?" Hiltner explained. Dr. Hiltner said, "We must look at life from the standpoint of eternity itself. Real opportunity is possible only when eternity is in our hearts."

"We must remember that our work is a God-given responsibility. We can put eternity into history or grammar if we do our work faithfully. There is a moral uplift whenever work is well-done."

Tuesday, Jan. 30—Miss H. Wright.

Art illustrating various forms of leisure time activities was portrayed in slides and criticized by Wartburg's art instructor, Miss Helen Wright, on Tuesday, Jan. 30.

Miss Wright defined art as "an expression which by its skillfulness or truthfulness is raised above common communication."

Wednesday, Jan. 31, N. Becker.

A pre-medical student from the University of Wisconsin, who attended Wartburg for the past three years, Dr. Norman Becker spoke before the student body on Wednesday, Jan. 31, comparing various phases of university life with that in Wartburg college.

It is Mr. Becker's opinion that students at a small college are fortunate in receiving personal attention. "It is a true advantage," he said, "when you have men interested in you and help you with your work. You should appreciate that here."

"Pick up study habits here. You have a beautiful opportunity," commented the university student. He pointed out that high school students going directly into a university have much more trouble in adapting themselves to the new

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

By Rae Porter

Come to think of it, human nature is a funny thing. You expose a normal college man to his fifth piece of pie after a heavy meal and nine times out of ten he'll eat it (ever been on a chorus tour?) unless his mama (or his dad) come to the rescue with one of those familiar "Thou shalt nots." It just occurred to me the other day that this business of extra-curricular activities on the Wartburg campus has a tendency to be overdone in much the same way. It might have been just a guilty conscience after those semester exams I turned in, but all these reflections did finally result in my setting out pencil and paper in hand to discover what thoughts my fellow students had upon the subject (if any). "How many campus organizations?" I asked them, "can a person belong to and do justice to without neglecting his classwork?" My net results I set before you.

Rollie Wuest—in answering this question, one must take into consideration the nature of the organizations. If one of the organizations is choir, the student will find his time taken up and probably will have no time for another. The limit should be two, but each person should belong to at least one. (And how many do you belong to, Rollie?)

Probably the best way to really do justice to your classwork, you shouldn't belong to any. (Then you're saving your pencil and paper—) "Don't you print anything any place, you rat?" . . . ts, ts, ts, such language!

Ace Schumacher—Not more than two. If you carry more you won't do justice to one or the other. (You should know, Ace, you were president of three last year.)

Viv Glock—As many as he wants to. (Thanks, Viv, we were hoping somebody would say that.) Dick Hath—It should be up to the student; he should decide that for himself. (Then I left, 'cause he was set to go on for hours.)

Richard Bunge—I would set one major and possibly two minor organizations as a maximum. Any intelligent student will know enough to limit himself. (Remember that, Ric, Bunge.)

Martin Leseberg—Not more than two. Some school authority will have to do the limiting; the students never will. (Ah, oh, I was afraid of that.)

Leck Fink—Let the student limit himself depending on how much he thinks he can handle. (How much he can handle . . . hum.)

Sid Sandrock—One major and two minor organizations. The system should be regulated by the student council with the backing of the administration.

Anne Aardal—No limit should be set. Let every student decide this for himself.

John Emmons—Everyone should belong to Luther League. Aside from this, one professional organization and one social one are not too much. Geniuses and special students could do more of course, but absolutely no limit should be set.

Methods of study than those who are doing a small college.

Tuesday, Feb. 1, Sid Sandrock.

A pre-view of Wartburg's Religious Emphasis Week which extends from Ash Wednesday through the following Sunday was given in convocation on Thursday, Feb. 1, by Sid Sandrock, senior pre-theologian.

"My Personal Religion" will be the theme of the week. The various devotions and addresses will reach a climax in a sermon on Sunday, given by Dr. C. V. Schuch, executive secretary of the foreign mission board.

Wartburg's new chapel-auditorium will be dedicated so that it will fill the court at the rear of Luther Hall, extending eastward so that the large trees at the left will be cut down to make room for the entrance to the structure.

The chapel-auditorium is a project of the Wartburg Alumni Association and will be completed by 1943, the diamond jubilee year of Wartburg college.

too much time on them and not enough on his studies. (He must be taking a course under Doc Schneider.)

Norrie Aard—There should be the maximum including sports, but it's a problem every student should be allowed to decide for himself. . . all of which leads us to wonder if two people ever had the same idea at the same time . . . What do you think?

DEBATE

Knights Tourney With Upper Iowa, Dubuque.

The debate club is preparing for a round-robin tournament with Upper Iowa, university and Dubuque university next Wednesday, Feb. 7, at Wartburg. The first round will begin at ten o'clock in the morning and debating will continue for four complete rounds in the last round only Upper Iowa will remain because another engagement will force Dubuque to leave somewhat earlier. Norman Orth, who was ill at the time of the trip to Upper Iowa and the home engagement with town St. Paul's Teachers college, will be back and take his usual place in the Wartburg team.

Next Tuesday, Feb. 6, the debate club will hold a convocation debate presented by Raymond Kronberger and Martin Leseberg on the affirmative, and Edwim Schick and Norman Orth on the negative.

LOCAL "B" TEAM DROPS THRILLER TO ALLISON FIVE

After winning a 33-32 thriller Monday night on Readlyn, the Wartburg college team took an even by dropping a bitter, hard-fought battle, 31 to 27, to Allison Tuesday night at the college gymnasium. Wartburg opened the game with Marvin Peterson leading the first half in field goal, but Allison tied it up in about the same instant.

After followed a period of nip-and-tuck basketball in which the Wartburg squad had the definite edge in scoring. With Winterfeld leading the way, Wartburg led a first quarter 12-6 lead.

When the second quarter started, Winterfeld again connected after Allison had scored a bucket and Howard Wendt followed it up with another. The score was 18-10 in favor of Wartburg.

HOCKEY 7 Wartburgers Play on Town Teams.

The "blanks" of shates upon ice, the shouts of various players, the thud of the hockey stick against puck, the "whist" of the shates as they scrape sheets of flying ice in turning sharply around—these are all music in the ears of hockey-minded youths of Wartburg college, who are playing on teams organized by six Waverly business firms.

On the Grassfield team Armin Lescheny, Vic Hennig and Reinhard Sauder performed in hot and furious battles so far. Charles "Red" Reimer and Andy Timmer hit the puck on a team sponsored by the A. & P. grocery store. Roland Schuetter roams the ice under the banner of the Coast-to-Coast store, while Bill Oetters on winged feet for the Sinclair oil station.

Many interesting and hard-fought games have already been played. The A. & P. Store is at the top of the standings, having defeated Coast-to-Coast 6-2, Drapes 8-2, Sinclair 9-1, and Penney's clothing store 8-1, for a record of four won and none lost. Grassfield's shoe store is second with a record of two wins and no losses, defeating Sinclair's 4-1, and trouncing Penney's 5-1. These two teams were scheduled to play Thursday night, but due to ice the game was postponed to Friday night.

The other four teams come after them in the matter of wins and losses, and it looks like a tight race to see who will come in third, fourth, and fifth respectively in the standing.

The Coast-to-Coast, Drapes and Penney's are all tied for third place in the matter of wins and losses, games won and lost, and their percentages follow:

Team	W	L	Pct.
A. & P. Store	4	0	1.000
Grassfield's	2	0	1.000
Coast-to-Coast	1	2	.333
Drapes	1	2	.333
Penney's	1	2	.333
Sinclair	0	3	.000

RINKY DINKS WIN THRILLER, 33-32 OVER READLYN

The Wartburg college "B" team crashed into the win column at Readlyn Monday night in a 33-32 thriller. The Wartburg team, led by Reinhard Sauder, forward from Brownston, Minnesota, led both teams in the scoring column by pouring in seven field goals and four free throws. The Readlyn team, led by Marvin Peterson, forward from Brownston, Minnesota, led both teams in the scoring column by pouring in seven field goals and four free throws.

The game was fast and furious from the start. Wartburg made the first basket but Readlyn dumped into an early lead.

But after the goals came thick and fast, and Wartburg was never more than a point behind. Each team had free throws and Wartburg tied it up with another field goal. A field goal by the Rinky-Dinks gave them a 2-point lead, but the Independents made a free throw and a field goal to put them ahead 26-22. Then the "B" team made two field goals and two free throws to go into the lead and stay there.

Wartburg 'Bomber' K. O.'s Hamilton In G. G. Bout.

Norbie Augst successfully defended his heavyweight golden gloves boxing championship in Waverly's second golden gloves tournament. Augst had only one fight to win the crown, and it took him only 1 minute and 45 seconds to do the trick, Bob Hamilton, a stepping 265 pounder from Waterloo, Iowa, was his competitor and was willing to mix it with the Wartburg flash, but bringing an unusually short right-hand punch from nowhere, Norbie flattened his man. Hamilton was out 'cold' for several minutes after he was counted out. It is hoped and expected that Norbie will travel with the Waverly team to Cedar Rapids for the golden gloves to be held there.

Meinders and Sauder of Wartburg were both defeated in their first round bouts. Meinders put up a good scrap against Joe Roucka of Elm, but the latter had a little too much ring experience for 'Red', and took a three round decision. This fight was in the 160 pound class. Sauder gave his opponent, Joe Wahlen of New Hampton, a few big moments in the 175 pound bout, but finally fell the victim of a knockout in the second round. Incidentally these two fighters, Joe Wahlen and Joe Roucka, went on to win the crown in their respective divisions.

All in all the tournament was highly successful and Waverly will send a team composed of the winners to Cedar Rapids. The winners in their divisions:

Bob Kroupa, Decorah, 112 lbs.

Mel Bohmsack, Hampton, 110 lbs.

Pat Vanner, Charles City, 126 lbs.

Eldon Archenbault, Hampton 135 lbs.

Walt Erish, Sumner, 147 lbs.

Joe Roucka, Elm, 160 lbs.

Joe Wahlen, New Hampton, 175 lbs.

Norbert Augst, Waverly, heavyweight.

DUBUQUE ROMPS OVER KNIGHTS IN 40-26 WIN

Locals Succumb After Thrilling First Half.

After trailing by only three points at the half, the Wartburg Knights completely crumbled the second period to let the Dubuque Spartans romp over them for a 40-26 Iowa conference basketball victory at the Waverly gym on Jan. 26.

During every minute of the first half the Knights offered stubborn resistance to match practically basket for basket the highly touted Spartans. An entire reversal of form was displayed during the second period when the Knights were side sick and only six points to their total of 22 was Dubuque added 17.

Lussov Opens Scoring

Lussov opened scoring for Dubuque with a two pointer but Heist soon cancelled it and Langholz followed with two gift shots for Wartburg to put the Knights in front 4-2. Peterson followed with two charities for Dubuque and Lussov sank another two pointer to deprive the Knights of their only lead of the game. The rest of the period saw Dubuque make a basket followed by another.

Score at the half: Wartburg 20, Dubuque 23.

Free throws missed: Wartburg 9, Dubuque 8.

Officials: Referee Starbeck S. D. State, Umpire, Fischer, Iowa.

PEACOCKS DRUB KNIGHTS, 59-38 AT FAYETTE

Alderson Paces Upper Iowa To Win Over Locals.

Unable to cope with the fast-breaking Upper Iowa Peacocks the Wartburg Knights suffered their fifth straight losses, conference basketball defeat to the tune of 59-38 at Fayette, Ia., on Jan. 31.

At the opening whistle the Peacocks took command of the game and retained their lead for the entire contest. Sparked by the relentless Dale Alderson, Peacock forward, who scored 24 points on the board, the four college Upper Iowa glided through the Wartburg defense to run up exactly the same score that they did a year ago when the Knights played at Fayette.

Missing several attempts early in the game the Knights displayed a faltering offense to let the Peacocks pull away to a 33-17 lead at the intermission. Still unable to stop Alderson and company, but displaying a smoother offense the Wartburg Knights slightly narrowed the gap on the scoreboard but never seriously threatened at any time, even though Bill Kappmeyer displayed some excellent ball handling.

WARTBURG HITS ROAD TO MEET EAGLES, BEAVERS

Wartburg's Knights will make their first long-distance football journey of the current campaign when they travel to Western Union, Saturday night, to meet the Western Union Eagles. So far Wartburg has had a season of 10 luckless trips and will want to taste the fruit of victory at the expense of the Western Union eagles. Thus far Western Union has played only one conference contest, suffering a loss at the hands of the Upper Iowa Peacocks 50-30. Brodie, Hartman and Bennett will probably be in the starting lineup at the two forward spots and the center position respectively. Murray, Pauli and Wolters will most likely alternate at the guard ends and will do the heavy defensive work. Pauli and Wolters have also stamped themselves as potential scoring threats as shown by the early season games.

A week later, Western Union will travel to Wartburg's home court for a return engagement. The game is scheduled for Friday, February 16. Wartburg has won a conference game this season, losing five games to Buena Vista, Central Junior Iowa, and two games to Dubuque's Spartans.

Included with Wartburg's journey out western Iowa way, will be a return engagement with Buena Vista's Beavers at Storm Lake, Iowa, on Saturday night, February 10.

Vista's thrilling win at the hands of the Knights, they have lost three straight conference games. Luther defeated them in a low scoring contest and Buena Vista won a brace of games to the surprise for Upper Iowa team. Wartburg and Buena Vista seemed to present two quite evenly matched teams in their previous engagements and this game should be a thriller for the spectators. Of course, Wartburg will be out to avenge that stinging 40-39 defeat suffered previously to the Beaver crew.

GOLDEN GLOVES

Our heartiest congratulations to Herb Austin in winning the Waverly Golden Gloves heavyweight title for the second year in succession. Herb was in the pink of condition when he entered the fight against big, burly Bob Hamilton, K. M. C. A. boxer of Waterloo, and it took Austin's right hand piece of TNT just one minute and 45 seconds to explode on Hamilton's chin and scuttle the Waterloo fighter. Weighing in at 205, Hamilton provided a big work to shoot at, and Herb says he couldn't move him until that sixth punch sent Hamilton down for the count and a nice rest. I'll bet Bob thinks that that was no Golden Glove that hit him. Herb didn't follow up his win last year by going to Cedar Rapids but we think he deserves a chance this year to go on. It took only one fight to win the local crown and we wager he'd go a long way to Cedar Rapids.

ICE HOCKEY

This Canadian male Scott Henie by the name of Ardy Timmick is really a flash on the ice. That boy can really handle a hockey stick and has been showing Waverly fans how to put that little puck in the net. He's so far ahead in the individual scoring race that it's a pity. He's averaged 4.5 points per game for 4 games which is quite some. Yep, Wartburg has a candidate for the Montreal Maple Leafs or the great Rangers. Four other Wartburgers are also in the scoring column above the 1.00 mark. A. Lescaresky holds a 2.5 average, Sauter, 1.5, R. Schiefer, 1.3, and Henie, 1.00.

HOOP HIGHLIGHTS

To turn from individual performances to team play we must admit that after the first half of the Dubuque clash the other night, we truly felt that the Knights were playing the brand of basketball that they are capable of. But in the second half, the inexperience of the team showed itself plainly. With several more games under their belt, the Wartburg squad ought to pull a few games out of the first and send them away. These Dubuque Spartans are smooth working, smooth passing, shooting quintet. They shoot whenever they get close enough so they can see the hoop, and they do it unobtrusively—Webster says that means "using both hands with quiet ease". The Spartans play smart ball even if they do get a lot of points via "sleepers" (not Pullmans). I haven't seen so many "sleepers" pulled since early high school years.

Alderson and Co. of Upper Iowa at Fayette inflicted another stunning defeat on the Knights. That Alderson is uncanny. Kappmeyer covered Alderson like a blanket but Alderson always gets his head out of some hole and lets fly the most unorthodox shots you ever saw. He's not sloppy because he is the high scorer game after game. Fans will be treated to "dead-eye" artistry when they see Alderson in action on the local floor. If Upper Iowa could get rid of him we might have a chance. He almost scored enough points to beat us single handed.

HOOP HOPE

In looking ahead to the next game with Western Union, there we can see two more evenly matched teams yet they have played only one conference game which was against Upper Iowa. The Peacocks won 51-39 so that puts us more on an even level with the Eagles. On the same road trip we met and saw the 4-9 Beavers again. Who forget that thrilling game which we lost 40-39 to the Beavers on the local floor. The Wartburg quint is confident they can top the Beavers this time.

These twin Becker boys really have us guessing. I guess I was Harold that played such a wham of a game against Dubuque. He has more speed than his older brother and ex-Knight Hoop Captain, and he has that same "kickstart" shot. With a little more experience he should become a consistent high scorer and excellent defensive player. And his brother is no lackluster player. I hope we may see them play together some time soon. You can't be the referee and scorer if you wish. I don't want the job. They ought to baffle anyone.

The team games are creating considerable interest and are bringing in light some fine material for future Knight squads. Coach Bernmann and the boys have a heavy schedule.
